WELLNESS AND RECOVERY

When searching for choices in behavioral health care, finding an environment that ensures both consistent support and comfort can be a challenging process. New Vitae Wellness and Recovery has been praised as a trusted leader in behavioral health care since 1983. We work with each of our members to help build confidence and to create trusting relationships. Our integrated approach of residential, behavioral, and mental health treatment provides a haven that promotes personal growth and success. New Vitae Wellness and Recovery offers a progressive residential service that enables individuals to gradually move into more independent housing.

Our services form the foundation of our compassionate community, which focuses on resiliency and holistic wellness. We advocate for person-centered care, offering a range of service options to personalize your treatment experience based upon individual preferences. Whether you are dealing with symptoms from a mental health diagnosis, recovering from a brain injury, or looking to overcome addiction, our recovery teams help you to progress towards personal goals through the use of evidence-based practices and ethical care.

New Vitae Wellness and Recovery utilizes what is known as the Recovery Model, a framework for care that emphasizes the value of hope and the importance of self-directed services. It focuses on the identification and use of personal strengths when aiding individuals to take steps towards achieving their goals. We understand the significance of participating in a safe community setting in which individuals can build positive and supportive relationships. We offer more than traditional residential treatment services or housing and mental health services. We offer solutions-focused services that reestablish hope.
